An EXTRAORDINARY STUDENT EXPERIENCE

Excellence in teaching and learning is a cornerstone of the LUMS experience. Undergraduate education at LUMS comprises three essential features: The first is the university core courses that all LUMS undergraduates study because these courses cover learning considered essential for all students, irrespective of their school. Second, each student specialises in a major offered by their specific school to develop depth and expertise in one field of knowledge. Finally, students also take 'outgroups' – courses in fields different from their specialisation – to acquire broad exposure to other fields of human knowledge. These elements – common learning, depth in one field, and broad exposure outside one's specialisation – comprise the three essential features of undergraduate education at LUMS.

Over and above these requirements, students have the choice to consider optional curricular opportunities: free electives or minors (to explore any subject of their interest on campus, offered by any school), independent study (to learn 1-on-1 or in small groups with a faculty, focusing on a topic of their own interest), semester abroad at an international university, senior projects, research and many other opportunities.

The three requirements and variety of additional choices can enable each student at LUMS to create a unique academic experience for themselves - a journey in 'Learning Without Borders' that is supported by world-class faculty having widespread experience.
