MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

The Lahore University of Management Sciences (LUMS), ranked amongst top 15 universities in SAARC by QS University Rankings Asia 2016, has long positioned itself as a leader in developing and imparting business education. Thirty years ago, LUMS pioneered the first state-of-the-art business school in the country, the Suleman Dawood School of Business (SDSB) and introduced the Case Study Method of teaching. Its top-notch faculty, its commitment towards excellence and appreciation for talent has led it to receive the highest quality category accreditation by the National Business Education Accreditation Council.

As a testament to our academic rigour, the Harvard Business Publishing (HBP) will now encompass distribution of SDSB cases through their site, making the School's cases available to a global audience. A major achievement for the Case Research Centre, this partnership places SDSB and LUMS on the international case map.

Diversity is a benchmark of the institution's student body. Ever since its inception, LUMS has attracted foreign students from across the globe. This culturally diverse socio-academic environment adds an impetus to gaining personal and professional skills. The University lays a strong emphasis on supporting top talent worldwide and offers generous scholarships to deserving international students.

Today, SDSB is recognised for excellence in three interconnected areas: research, teaching and service. Firstly, the School supports dissemination and creation of relevant and responsible research with specific emphasis on values of responsibility, integrity and diversity as part of the content. Secondly, our case method tradition enables critical integration of organisational examples into the curriculum. Thirdly, service refers to a continued commitment and contribution to industry, academic community and the wider society.

SDSB's flagship MBA programme produces graduates who are strategic and entrepreneurial in nature, team-players, ambitious and capable to turn around organisations. A significant portion of our graduate students' time is devoted to experiential learning materialised through mandatory industry analysis, entrepreneurial ventures, and consulting assignments. MBA students are also exposed to a global learning environment through our international exchange programmes with 16 universities, whereby they understand the transnational nature of today's businesses. Recruitment drives, seminars and networking initiatives are integral components of the programme. The LUMS MBA Placement Office educates, connects and advises students about opportunities in the professional world. We are proud of the high percentage of graduates who have been recruited across the globe and are contributing to economy and society through their leadership acumen.

Our faculty is a rich conglomerate of the finest PhDs from across the globe. Forty-four of them hold doctorate degrees from the best universities of the world.
